THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The work upon this enterprise is vigorously prosecuted. We learn from the Harrison Flag, published at Marshall in Texas, of the date of February 7th inst., that an immense amount of work was performed during the fine weather prevailing there for the previous week. There were then largely over six hundred hands at work, and the early completion of the road from Marshall to the Louisiana line, a distance of about ty miles, may be considered a fixed fact. This higence will be gratifying to the thousands of stockholders in this great enterprise. The completion of that portion of the road between the Louisiana line and Marshall will secure the munificent State aid.

THE SEASON OF ABSTINENCE.-Yesterday the chiming bells, the streets thronged with worshipers tending toward the sanctuary, and the lean kitchen pots and scanty dinner tables of our Episcopal and Catholic friends gave notice of the advent of the season of Lent-a period of forty days abstinence from all luxurious articles of diet and all the eccentricities and frivolties that characterize the

THE MARINE HOSPITAL.—This important national institution, now under the sole management of speculators should be watchful, and see that bar-Dr. Robert J. Breckinridge, assisted by an able gains do not slip through their hands from negliboard of visitors, has received since the opening of gence or inattention. There was a large attendance navigation a large accession to the number of its inmates. These are all treated with the utmost care, and the best possible regulations are adopted for their comfort. We know of no similar institution that is conducted with such singular regard to both public and private interests.

IMPORTANT FROM WASHINGTON .- The report of the investigation committee was brought up for action in the House yesterday. It elicited considerable discussion. We do not suppose that anything will be done with the report this session. The time that should be occupied in the expulsion of the guilty members will be taken up in the discussion of technicalities. Thus are justice and the public good cheated.

(For the Louisville Journal.) SONG.

BY W. W. FOSDICK.
By the wild witch-hazle brake, By the silver sanded lake, Where the white-leaved aspens quake I with Carrie roved. Rephyr kissed the greenwood bough, Branches wooed the lakelet's brow, And I kissed, I know not how, Her I dearly loved.

Upon the ground her eyes were set, Plucking at a violet, Which her dewy tears had wet, While her cheek was flush. With a kiss that tears I chased, And around her slender waist, Tenderly my arm I laced, She did naught but blush.

The wild witch-hazel brake was green. No eye could pierce our leafy screen
And not another's glance hath seen
That nameless joy we bless. Carrie, said I, then be mine. Let us thus forever twine, And she smiled, Oh! bliss divine! Smiled, and whispered yes!

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river in the twenty-four hours ending last evening rose about 7 inches, making 5 feet 8 inches water in the canal. The weather is clear and pleas

We learn from a memorandum of the steamer Virginia, which has been kindly sent us from Cairo, that the flour in the barge of the Switzerland, which was sunk at Point Chicot, has been saved in a damaged condition.

For New Orleans .- The R. J. Ward is at Portland and leaves for New Orleans positively this evening. The Ward is one of our finest passenger packets. She is not excelled in point of accommodations, while her table is rarely equaled on water or on shore. Capt. Silas F. Miller, her commander is widely known as an experienced officer and gentleman. The attentive clerks of the Ward have our thanks for favors.

For Memphis. - The elegant packet Northerner Capt. Smith, having been nnavoidably detained, leaves for Memphis at 10 o'clock this morning, from Portland. The Northerner has large and finely furnished cabins and state-rooms, and every appoint-

For St. Louis. — The new steamer Meteor, built here, leaves for the Missouri river to-day, from the city wharf. She is an elegant craft and we recommend her to those going in that direction.

The William Dixon will leave for the Tennessee river to-day.

The Moses McLellan, Capt. Catterlin, will hereafter run in the St. Louis trade. The Fanny Bullitt will arrive this morning and

REAL ESTATE ADVANCING .- It is with pleasure we report the increasing value of property in our city, judging from sales made by Mr. C. C. Spencer at auction on yesterday afternoon, being the first of the season. One lot 241/8 feet front by 96 deep to an serve. They have exhausted every effort in their alley, corner of Market and Tenth streets, with an power, but those most interested have not come up old (basement) two-story brick house thereon, sold for $2,005. One lot 251/8 feet front by 96 deep (with The difficulty about the office at Shippingport, of side alley), having on it a small brick house, sold provement in the value of real estate in our city over the past two years, and we feel satisfied that the purchasers of these lots will realize a handsome profit on their investments. Real estate buyers and at this sale, and the bidding was spirited; reminding us of the years 1853 and '54. The terms of the above sale were one-third cash and 'six and twelve months, with interest and lien.

> RETURNED. - Our theater-goers all remember Nick Johnson, who was a great favorite with them upon the boards of our theater. We are glad to learn that he has returned to this city entirely restored to health, and hope his friends will find some. thing for him to engage in by which he may be also restored to usefulness and profit to himself and his family.

> MURDEROUS ASSAULT .- We understand that yesterday a man named John Talbert assaulted a Mr. Cotton, with an ax, and severely wounded him. The difficulty occurred on Dr. R. P. Hunt's farm, street.

> DESTRUCTIVE FIRE .- On Sunday evening, the 15th, the store of Mr. T. L. Allen, near Hickman,

OUR TRADE WITH MEMPHIS .- The establishment of a packet line, and thereby a ready and sure means of communication with Memphis, has always met with our encouragement and ardent support. We are gratified to learn that the present enterprise is meeting with greater success than was anticipated. It cannot fail proving, in an eminent degree, advantageous to the trade of Louisville. A new field is thus opened to our enterprise, and will bring a rich, enterprising, and prompt set of customers to our market. In order to insure the continuance of his line, our shippers should give it preference in all cases.

The Northerner leaves for Memphis this afternoon at four o'clock- She is commanded by Capt. James Smith, a popular and go-a-head officer, who, with a fast, elegant, and commodious steamer, cannot fail rendering service to the public here, and all along shore between Louisville and Memphis.

DEATH OF THE ORIGINAL UNCLE TOM .- The Indianapolis Journal mentions the death in that city, on Sunday last, of Thomas Magruder, an old negro, aged about 110 years. He is supposed to have been the one who suggested the name and the leading features of the character in Mrs. Stowe's novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The latest accounts from England state that Mr. Tenbroek's horses are still at New Market, and are only taking walking exercise. The New Market trainers are waiting for fine weather to commence preparing their horses for the spring races, which will shortly commence.

THE BOSTON FAILURE.—The liabilities of the shipping house of Enoch Train & Co., in England and Australia, are stated to exceed $2,000,000. The assets, however, are also large, and a fair and hororable settlement will no doubt be made.

GA German was arrested yesterday on the charge of having stolen a sum of money. He is to be examined before Judge Johnston to-day.

[Special Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.] Another Slice of Mexico—"Waste or Shoddy"—The Tariff—Book Distribution, etc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23, 1857. Portland. The Northerner has large and finely furnished cabins and state-rooms, and every appointment to render passengers comfortable. She is the pioneer in the Memphis packet line, and since she has commenced running in it, the business has so rapidly increased that the mail company intend to place another boat in the line soon. Mr. Archer, the clerk, is a polite and clever gentleman.

The Telegraph No. 3 is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day, and Rmma Dean is the Carrollton packet.

The J. B. Ford is up for Wheeling and the Minerva for Pittsburg.

Washington, Feb. 23, 1857.

Before the expiration of the present week, our government will receive the treaty recently negotiated with Mexico for another slee of her "freesoil." Whatever may be the object of this acquisition, one thing is certain, namely: it is better to buy an article, even if you do not want it, than to invest at the touch of the American dollars.

Not a little sport has been occasioned by the article of "waste or shoddy" which appears in the free list of the revenue act which recently passed the House and is now pending in the Senate. Under the tariff act of 1846 it is in the five per cent. schedule, and yielded the extraordinary sum in one year the tariff act of 1846 it is in the five per cent. schedule, and yielded the extraordinary sum in one year of about twenty-five dollars! Some of the representatives were much concerned about this article; they insisted that it should be admitted free. Their wish has been gratified. But what is this "waste or shoddy?" Merely the clippings from the surface of woolen cloths—the shearings of the goods.

In a former letter I merely gave the outline of the new measure which so successfully passed through the House. Even those calling themselves "freetrade men" preferred that bill to none at all, in view of the evils to be apprehended from an overflowing treasury. The friends of American manufactures are generally pleased with the bill, all flowing treasury. The friends of American manufactures are generally pleased with the bill, all things considered. It is an alternative measure, in which, as far as possible, all the conflicting interests are accommodated. It is the best which can now be consummated. The Senate ought to pass it as it is, and probably will; for, if they send it back to the House with important amendments, it may

We are indebted to the attentive officers of the Diamond for copies of her manifest and memorandum.

The Nashville True Whig has the following in regard to the steamer Humboldt, recently sunk in the Mississippi:

The boat was owned by Capts. Strong. Taylor, and Cabler, and Messrs. Matt. Martin and William Wyatt, all of this city, and was worth $35,000. She was a regular Nashville and N. Orleans packet, and made a few trips after coming out last year, but this was her first regular season. She was insured for $5,000 in the Fireman's Insurance Company of Louisville, $5,000 in the Fireman's Insurance Company of Louisville, $5,000 in another Louisville office, and $4,000 in a Cincinnati office.

She was loaded for this city and had on board 700 $4,000 in a Cincinnatio office.

She was loaded for this city and had on board 700 tons of freight, some of which we learn was insured.

The subject of book distribution among the new members of the present Congress has occupied the attention of the House. An amendment was offered to the "Deficiency bill," appropriating $183,765 for that purpose. During the debate, it was maintained that, as the old members had heretofore received their share of books, it was just that the new ones should be treated with equal justice; while on the opposite side, it was contended that the compensation law (increasing the pay of members) was in-tended to preclude the books, and that history showed that such books had been sold by members to specula-tors, who again and again sold them to the Government, to be similarly disposed of. In other words, that the system was a swindle. The amendment was agreed to in committee by a decided majority, but when it was reported to the House, for concur rence, it received only twenty-seven affirmative votes, against ninety-six in the negative. Fifty or sixty who sanctioned the proposition by passing through the tellers in committee would not incur the responsibility of recording their names, in the largest in the favor. House, in its favor.

Mr. Paine, in allusion to the fact that the old members having, at previous Congresses, supplied them-selves and now refused to furnish the new members with similar books, related an anecdote, leaving the aforesaid old members to make the application. A man in his country, he said, came in to dinner, said grace, and sat down and commenced eating heartily and hastily. His hands were called, but before they had fairly made preparations for satisfying the inner man, the host rose from the table, and said that he was satisfied, and thought it was time that all had enough.

VERITAS.

The New York Tribune gives a facetious account of the cowhiding of a merchant by a California widow in that city, at a fashionable boarding house, before a large company of ladies and gentlemen, some evenings since. The unfortunate man had been "talking about" the incensed female. The cowskin cut the more tender article on the gentle-man's face severely. He had heard what was com-ing and had provided a police officer to take the in-flammable lady in custody, but the representative of law and order was overwhelmed in the noise and confusion, and after enjoying the fun for a few mo-ments departed. ments departed.

[From the Cincinnati Price-Current, Feb. 25.] PORK PACKING IN THE WEST. PORK PACKING IN THE WEST.

Si.vee our last issue, returns from several places not previous, v heard from, came to hand. We have now arranged all the returns received in tabular form, and finding the deficiency somewhat larger than was generally anticipated, we hasten to place the statement before the readers of the Price-Curreot. The returns are nearly complete, and sufficiently so for all practical purposes, as those from the few places yet to be heard from will not essentially change the general result.

We have yet to hear from Urbana and Wilmington, in this State; Canton, Hickman, and Paducah, in Kentucky; Chattanoogs, in Termessee; Cairo, Carmi, DeSoto, Grayville, Rock Island, and Pittsfield, in Illinois; Fort Madison and Iowa City, in Iowa; and Milwankee, in Wisconsin, Assoon as the returns from these places are received, we will publish the statement in full, together with the exports by railways to the East, which are not yet at hand. The exports to the East, so far as they have been received, compare as follows:

TORNADO AT AUGUSTA, KY .- A correspondent, writing from Augusta, Ky., gives the following account of a tornado which occurred at that place on Friday last. He says:

count of a tornado which occurred at that place on Friday last. He says:

It commenced about five miles southwest of Augusta, traveling in a northeast direction, destroying everything it came in contact with as far as heard from. Before reaching Augusta it destroyed a number of fine barns, fences, &c. At Augusta it first struck the saw-mill at the lower part of town, which it moved, together with the heavy stone wall on which it was built, about two feet; next it took a small frame house, with two persons in it, across the street and over the river bank; then it caught another small frame dwelling, also with two females in it, completely demolishing the building and depositing much of it in the river; it then struck Dr. Bradford's fine premises, twisting off and tearing up by the roots all of his fine shrubbery, among which were many cedars from twelve to eighteen inches in diameter. Besides this it took a number of people over the bank, blew down a great number of chimneys, took wagons, &c., into the river, and, strange to relate, no lives were lost or any one seriously injured. It then crossed the river, taking in its course a small flatboat, occupied by an Italian for manufacturing plaster toys, &c., lifting it some thirty feet out of the water, and, after turning it over a number of times, quietly deposited it back in the river, bottom up. Next it struck a large two-story brick house, on the Ohio side, leveling every wall completely with the ground. Next it demolished another barn; then it took the body of a new log house, a span of horses, wagon, &c., which, including the house-logs, had not been heard from when our informant left the scene. We also understand that it destroyed every building and all the fine orchards of Mr. Patterson, together with another fine brick house, on its travel toward White Oak, and yet no lives lost as far as heard from. ost as far as heard from.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Designed to be great conservators of public morals, who is not concerned for their welfare and interested who is not concerned for their welfare and interested in their success and prosperity?

Doubtless most of your readers have witnessed with pleasure and satisfaction the rapid advance which our city schools have made within the last few years. To those who were familiar with the narrow, ill-ventilated, unpleasant rooms, and unsightly and dilapidated buildings in which some of these schools were formerly held, the change to the present commodious, pleasant, light, and stately buildings is a marked one. The standard of teaching, too, has been greatly elevated. The introduction of music also, and the addition of an academic department for the pursuit of the higher branches, all speak well for those who have had these matters all speak well for those who have had these matter in charge, and are clear indications of a growing prosperity, to which, from our inmost hearts, we bid God speed.

In our progress toward perfection, however, a new branch of education has very recently been intro-duced, not contemplated in the original design of these schools, a department where the heels, not the head, receive the largest share of attention, and which many will not be so ready to regard as a step forward. We allude to the practice of dancing, which we are informed by one of the teachers has become quite common in these schools, and public general dances (in which both teachers and scholars, unite) coming into vogue under the guise of literary exhibitions.

When where and how it may be right or wrong.

When, where, and how, it may be right or wrong to dance, we will not now discuss—but is it right, can it be right for trustees and teachers to abuse the confidence reposed in them by parents who heartily disapprove of dancing, to lead their inexperienced children into a habit which a large majority of professing Christians pointedly condem? But they are not alone in the condemnation of it.

are not alone in the condemnation of it.

Few cities have a better system of common schools than Philadelphia—and few places have given more attention to the whole subject of public education. Here is testimeny from that quarter recently given in which they consider the education of the heels is promoted at the expense of the head.

The board of school directors, fifteenth section, Philadelphia, at a late stated meeting, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved. That any teachers who may attend

We commend it to the consideration of our board of trustees. We were informed by a teacher that one of the schools lately had a theatrical performance in their building.

If our public schools are to be converted into ballrooms and theatres, the sooner the Christian public are apprised of the fact the better, that they may shape their course accordingly. shape their course accordingly.

Arrest of an Express Messenger.—Philip J. Murphy, a messenger in the employ of the American Express Company, was arrested yesterday for purloining a package of money some months since. The bag containing the package ($2,000) was made up at Dubuque, and was addressed to Buffalo. Murphy opened the bag in the office on Sunday afternoon, November 16th, took out the package, re-sealed the bag, which contained other packages and valuables, and replaced it in the vault. The fact of Murphy's living liberally induced the officers of the Company to mistrust him. He was arrested by officers Best and Tyler, by direction of Mr. Peck, the gentleman in charge of the Buffalo office. Murphy confessed the whole transaction.—Buffalo Com.

EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 26, 1857.

THE INDIAN WAR IN FLORIDA.—The Key West correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer, under date of Feb. 16, writes that the U. S. transport steamer Fashion had arrived at that port from Tampa and Punta Rosa (Gen. Harney's headquarters). The Fashion was on her way to Miama to meet General H., who is scouring the hammocks between the two places. The officers of the Fashion report the discovery of an Indian encampment with everything left in confusion, as if their flight had been precipitate. They left fires burning, their dinners cooking, their blankets, axes, and dogs. From appearances, the encampment had consisted of about thirty Indians.

Pricateering.—Com. Thomas Ap. C. Jones has published a letter, in which he argues on the "Necessity of privateers in time of war," and contends that the effect of the recognition of the doctrine advanced by the Paris Conference, in favor of abolishing privateering and exempting private property on the high seas from prize of war, would be to enable the great naval powers of the old world, at will, and with perfect impunity, by blockade, to annihilate the commerce of weak States, besides laying waste all seacoast towns and cities, as well as agricultural districts, approachable by fleets and their boats. Cotton—The market was pretty steady at the commencement of the week, but since the receipt of advices per Asia, holders have been more willing to sell; and owing to the limited demand, ordinary and middling qualities of American have declined about 1-6d, while fair Orleans and Mohile have advanced ½d per lb. Business in Manchester remains dull, and prices of both goods and yarn are lower. Middling Orleans. 7½d; Mobile, 7 9-10, and howed 7 7-16d.

Bacon—The advices per Ericsson and Asia, confirming previous intelligence from the United States, in reference to the hog crop, and of speculations there being entered upon in all articles of provisions, have induced receivers here to be more sanguine as to the future healthfulness of the trade. In this they will be encouraged by the very unexpected high prices paid for old beef and pork, at the Government sale at Deptford, yesterday. Thus far the receipts of new bacon have been of the earlier curing, and are not altogether free from objection; still the average of prices has been good, and the aggregate of sales fully equal to hose of the corresponding period of last year.

Pork—New is searce and much wanted; the nominal value is 85s to 90s. Some 300 bils of old sold yesterday evening at 80s. At the Government sale in Deptford yesterday, old brought 85s for bils to 165s for tierces.

Lard—At the date of our last there was an active demand, principally from refiners, which resulted in the going out of a small took then here, as well as the subsequent receipt of some 80 tons per "Ericsson," at 70s. At the moment refiners seem to be supplied, and there is a pause in the trade. We learn that 68s is offered for lard to arrive, and 66s for delivery in March.

Battle of Obraje.—On the 24th of January, General Henni agsen was orderedto attack the allies at Obraje, under the command of General Canas, with between three and four hundred men. Obraje with between three and four hundred men. Obraje is about nine miles from Rivas, and as soon after the order had been given as it could be reached, it was attacked; and notwithstanding they found it better fortified and occupied by a stronger force than they had anticipated, they continued the fight during the entire day. At no time had they any prospect of driving the allies from their position, and yet they continued to charge the barricades; and, as they were beaten back, to fire upon the enemy while retreating out of range. This course was followed without serious results, until Gen. Henningsen, satisfied that he had not sufficient force to dislodge them, determined to remain for a time as near out of range as mined to remain for a time as near out of range as would afford his men comparatively safe opportunity of occasionally picking off those of the allies who exposed themselves to their fire. After some twenty hours of such fighting, his men began to show un-mistakable signs of fatigue, and having had three men killed and three wounded—Capt. Phinney mor--he fell back upon Rivas.

They state the loss of the allies at 80 killed and 100 wounded. I have it on Costa Rican authority, that the loss of the allies was 21 killed and 32 wounded, and that they had but 700 men in the

The Battle of San George.—After a few hours had been allowed for refreshment and rest, Gen. Walker issued an order to Gen. Henningsen to attack the enemy and drive them from San George, one league enemy and drive them from San George, one league from Rivas. On the 28th of January Gen. Henningsen marched upon the town with three hundred men—as large a force as could be spared from Rivas. When within a half a mile of the place, the General sent out parties to the right and left, to reconnoitre, Capt. Higher commanded the party on the right, and, soon after he was in motion, the fight commenced with a discharge of grape from the enemy, at 500 yards, which wounded thirteen of Walker's men. Immediately following this, the left flank was charged by a party of Costa Ricans, left flank was charged by a party of Costa Ricans, as they were entering a plantain patch within the limits of the town. The Walker men received the charging party warmly, and, after nearly two-thirds had been killed, the remainder retired behind their fortifications. When the remainder of the charging party had retreated, the Walker men charged the barricades several times, but finding them adobe and 10 feet high they did not succeed, and inally they fell back upon Rivas again, after having lost: killed, 27; wounded, 57—many of whom are officers. They report the loss of the allies to have been: killed, 200; wounded, 400—out of a force of 1,500. The Costa Ricans state their own force and loss as follows: force, 1100; killed, 98; wounded, 225.

Immediately after the failure at San George, Gen. Immediately after the failure at San George, Gen. Walker proceeded to San Juan del Sur, with 300 men, to meet the recruits expected to arrive from California by the steamship Orizaba. He arrived at San Juan on the 30th, and expected to find some 500 recruits. Unfortunately for him, there were but 44 under command of Maj. Torey and Capt. Buchanan. The company joined the Nicaraguan service as the Stockton Rangers. They were recruited by Major Torey, and Capt. Buchanan was elected after the formation of the company. Although somewhat disappointed, Gen. Walker did not appear disheartened in consequence of the small numpear disheartened in consequence of the small number of his recruits; and when he left to return to Rivas on the 2d of February, he declared his intention of making another attack upon San George as soon as possible after reaching his headquarters. The force now at San George consists, as near as I have been able to learn, of about 1,500 men, mostly Costa Ricans, in good condition and well fortified; while the most favorable reports of Walker's strength place it at 700. This, of course, he must divide when he attacks the enemy—leaving a portion to protect. protect Rivas.

The Attack upon Serapique - Col. Rudler count. — The steamship Texas, from New Orleans, arrived at San Juan del Norte on the morning of e 4th instant, with 200 recruits for General Walker, under command of H. T. Titus. The little river boat Rescue came alongside as soon as the steame came to anchor, and in an hour afterwards she was steaming up the San Juan river with all on board. Col. Lockridge has established his camp at Patacus Point. This camp we reached before sundown. Here we found Major Ellis's command 220 strong. Col. Titus's command was landed a short distance above. On the 5th preparations were made to move up the river to within a short distance of Fort Serapiqui, occupied by the Costa Ricans. On the 6th orders occupied by the Costa Ricans. On the 6th orders were given to move, which we obeyed with the whole command with the exception of 50 men left to hold Patacus. At 8 o'clock, A. M., we embarked on the Rescue and a launch and proceeded up to within one mile of Fort Serapiqui, where we landed our force on the right bank and out of reach of the enemy's guns. No time was lost. As soon as all were landed the order was given to march on Cody's Point, then occupied by the Costa Rican forces. Col. Anderson commanded the advance, 100 men; Col. Titus, the main body, 150 men; and Major Ellis, the rear, 100 men. lis, the rear, 100 men.

Col. Rudlen acted as guide. He being acquainted with the locality, it was thought best to let him be free to act in that capacity, and give such directions for the disposition of the forces as the nature of the country required. A detail of twelve men was thrown in front, with machetas to cut a trail through the impenetrable undergrowth. After entering the forest we soon found that it was impossible to keep forest we soon found that it was impossible to keep along the river bank, owing to the marshy state of the ground. We therefore made our way to the hill, where we found the earth more firm. After a tedious march of four hours, through mud, water, and ravines, we reached the high eminence in the rear of Cody's Point. Here the command was halted for a few moments. When the men had rested suffor a few moments. When the men had rested sufficiently, the order was given to forward to the attack. I never saw men more eager for the fray—each one was anxious to have the first "greaser." The enemy no doubt had notice of our approach, as there were but few on the Point. Those were either killed or scattered through the wood, from which they will never be able to extricate themselves.

There was quite a sharp fire kept up for about ten minutes between our men and the fort on the opposite side. Col. Titus, seeing that our men were ing but little execution by firing across the river, and that they were exposing themselves unnecessarily, gave the order to cease firing and retire out of range of the enemy's grape. After this, Col. Rudler and Col. Anderson went down the river trail to communicate with the Rescue. She was in the ler and Col. Anderson went down the river trail to communicate with the Rescue. She was in the middle of the river, about one thousand yards below, throwing round shot at the Fort with great effect. The artillery is under the command of Gen. Wheat. While communicating with Col. Lockridge on the steamboat the enemy fired on them from ambush. Col. Rudler was badly wounded, but succeeded in making his escape. Col. Anderson fortunately got off without injury. The enemy then turned their fire on the steamer, when Gen. Wheat, being under the impression that our men had the enemy surrounded, dare not fire on them, fearing he might kill our own men. The boat then backed down the river. On Col. Anderson's return to the main body, Capt. Harris, with his company, was ordered down to attack the enemy. On nearing them he was fired on, and the boys gave them a volley that will be long remembered by the few that were able to make their escape into the thicket. First Lieut. Bowman was killed at the first fire. Capt. Harris completely routed them, securing all Capt. Harris completely routed them, securing all their baggage, &c.

This, Mr. Editor, is a plain statement of facts cannot call it a battle, as it was only a skirmish. By it we have secured a very favorable position—one that commands the fort on Kip's Point, directly opposite. We necessarily have to move ston, our opposite to the heavy rains and the bad state of the ground. As soon as we get our guns placed in battery we shall knock their fort into a cocked hat in two hours. The enemy's loss is variously estimated; my estimate is, twenty killed and about thirty wounded.

Our loss is but trifling.

Statement of Major Snyder.—Major Snyder, of California, one of the passengers of the Tennessee, has furnished our reporter with the following account of his personal interview with Gen. Walker, and the statements made by Walker, of the present force under his command, and the strength and situation of the Costa Ricanarmy.

He found the General occupying exceedingly comfortable quarters, and reclining on a hammock. The General received him with great cordiality, and conversed with unrestrained freedom of matters pertaining to his own army and the Costa Rican forces. His own force, he stated, was 800 men. Of these, $50 men were then stationed at San Juan del Sur, under his own immediate command. The remaining men were at Rivas, under Gen. Hemingsen. The men were all in good spirits, and enjoyed, maining men were at Rivas, under Gen. Henning-sen. The men were all in good spirits, and enjoyed, as a general thing, excellent health. He was satis-fied that the men would stick by him, and that, with additional recruits to arrive, he should be able to conquer his enemies. He said that Gen. Wheat, with his army of 700 men at Greytown, would soon fight his way through the lake and form a junction with his own force. He should not in any case at-tempt to fight his way to Gen. Wheat. Of the Cos-ta Rican forces a great portion were men, who had ta Rican forces a great portion were men, who had been impressed into the service. At the battle of St. Goorge, fought on the 29th of January, as proof of this statement, he said, there were found among the killed apply. the killed numbers chained together two by two to prevent their running away. The natives, he felt assured, were friendly to him.

The total Costa Rican force he set down at 2,-800 men. Of these, 1,500 men were stationed at St. George; and the remainder occupied different posts around the lake and down the river. He expressed around the lake and down the river. He expressed his confidence that a force of one-fifth of the Costa Ricans was all that was needed to overcome them. The battles that they had already fought, he claimed, proved this fact beyond contradiction.

The General was very sanguine of achieving final and undisputed dominion over Nicaragua. Men, appropriation and previsions were to be sent to him.

and undisputed dominion over Nicaragua. Men, ammunition, and provisions were to be sent to him as he wanted them. At that time, he said he had six months' provisions on hand, and all the equipments and armaments he wanted.

Subsequent to his interview with Gen. Walker he visited the apartments occupied by the officers and men under his command. The apartments were all in good, order and commond mainly of dwelling.

in good order and composed mainly of dwelling houses. There was a large number of officers as compared with the number of privates. He estimated the whole force at 250 men, rank and file, one hundred less than the number stated by General Walker. On account of the multitude of officers, Lieu-Captains stood nowhere, and a Major tenants and was but slightly noticed.

was but slightly noticed.

Both officers and privates, as far as he conversed with them, expressed more anxiety to get away than to remain. Capt. Grant, formerly of the U. S. army, told him that for seven months' service he had received only fifty cents pay. The soldiers did not dare to attempt to desert, because they knew that if taken they would be shot without mercy. No one could get away without a passport, and the most rigid surveillance was kept upon all their movements. The majority of those who deserted were Germans and Frenchmen.

There were several ladies at Gen. Walker's headquarters; they all expressed no very high estimation

There were several ladies at Gen. Walker's head-quarters; they all expressed no very high estimation of the service, and, woman-like, rebelled at the idea of being obliged to get a passport to get away. They stated, moreover, that the general supply of pork was not commensurate with the supply of beant. As for the matter of food generally, the Major states that the soldiers made no special complaint. Their that the soldiers made no special complaint. I clothing, however, was worn nearly to shreds, but little prospect of a replenishing stock. I but little prospect of a replenishing stock. In respect to sleeping blankets, there was a general destitution and consequent complaint.

Altogether the Major, from what he had witnessed and heard at General Walker's headquarters, and from facts he had previously gathered, retired, he says, to the steamer, satisfied that the present position of the General was far from firm and secure. It tion of the General was far from firm and secure. It was well understood, and so talked over by General Walker's officers, that his object was not dominion over Nicaragua, but to achieve a sovereign power over the whole of Central America, and a portion of Southern Mexico. Whether he would ever accomplish the object of his ambition was for the future to reveal. He saw enough of Gen. Walker's present position to assure himself that his maintaining it any length of time depended wholly upon the amount of further succor he should receive. His position was a had one.

BISHOPP SPALDING'S LECTURE TO-NIGHT .- The distinguished and learned Bishop of the Diocese of Louisville lectures at Mozart Hall upon "National Characteristics." We anticipate listening to a fresh, gossipy, and instructive discourse from Dr. Spalding. He has both traveled and read extensively, has been a close observer of men and things, and will afford much interest in his delineation the peculiarities that mark the different nations the globe.

The lecture is at 71/2 o'clock and under the auspices of the Young Men's Sodality and Catholic Literary Institution.

The following is a specimen of a thousand tes timonials, voluntarily offered during the last week, in favor of Porter's Oriental Life Liniment:

Dr. R. D. Porter—
Sir: Having been induced to purchase several bottles of your Oriental Life Liniment, by the many valuable recipes which you publish, I was persuaded to give it a trial in frost-bites and fresh cuts and wounds, which I found essentially beneficial. My brother has also tried it in diseases of horses—one case where the left hip was shrinking away, producing stiffness of the entire limb, rendering the animal almost useless—has used but one bottle and Dr. R. D. Porteranimal almost useless-has used but one bottle and art of a second, and assured me it had almost ef-ected a cure. I have no hesitancy in recommendfected a cure. I have no hesitancy in recommend-ing it, and believe it is a valuable remedy in the disattending man or beast, for which you offer it Valentines! Valentines!

The time is at hand when all over the land,
By steam Cupids run on a rail,
Tender missives will it, and fair maidens, though shy,
Will akviously wait for the mail.
This time of the year pretty girls will be freer
To tell their heart's feeling in rhyme,
And the sexes will speak, both the strong and the weak,
Through Love's interpreter, St. Valentine.

Let old togies unwed, with a shake of the head,
Say the custom is vul; ar and low.
"Young America" goes for fun under the rose,
And each girl hopes to hear from her beau.
Each friend that one meets talks of funny pictured sheet Takes one's arm and shouts "Come along, Jake,
Let us hasten and choose rich and rare billet doux
From the matchless collection at store US."

Such delicious designs—such original lines,
Both comic and tender and true,
Never came into play since on Valentine's day
Human doves tried to bill and to coo.
All manner of themes, which of love ever dreams,
Tender thoughts, made melodious of late,
With good-natured jokes, meant for queer kind of folks,
You may get by applying at store 98.

Police Proceedings .- Thursday, February 26. Andrew J. McMannaway was charged with his old offence of making a great deal of noise at the instigation of whisky. His own recognizance taken in $200 to keep the peace for three months.

Eliza Jones was found drunk at 1 o'clock this morning. Having a sick family at home she was Simon Schwied, who is just from the workhouse, was given a new permit to that institution. He says that, having to walk ten miles yesterday, he took some stimulus, which limbered his legs and thickened his tongue. Sent out for three months.

Hannah Bardsley, an old woman, residing on Chestnut street, near the corner of Third, has been a great annoyance to her neighbors for some time. She is of very vicious and cruel propensities-a regular virago and termagant. Sent to the workhouse for six months.

Lawrence Johnston had defrauded Miles Sandridge out of two dollars, in the following fashion S. desired to have a two dollar bill changed, and J. proffered to obtain the change if he would treat him. He then repaired to a coffee house on the Portland wharf, bought a bottle of whisky for ten cents, and immediately decamped. Afterward they met in the city, but he did not recognize Sandridge. However, he gave him half the whisky. Sandridge is from Perry county, Ind., on his first trip from home, and owns up to being verdant and correspondingly moral. Johnston was sent to the work-house for three

John Fender and John Hertz were charged with assaulting Peter Cline and robbing him of fifty-five dollars. There was a free fight last Monday night at Darius' coffee-house, on the corner of Marshall and Shelby streets. The lights were blown out, and nobody could testify who was injured, who made the assault, or anything else definite. Mr. Uavis, of Maryland, remarked that there was no evidence which had not been printed.

Mr. Bennett said he could prove that Sweeny was induced to swear just so much as would convict Gilbert and no more. Every honest man would rebel against such conduct. Mr. Warner asked on what authority Mr. Bennett made his statement.

Mr. Bennett declined answering. He said that if gentlemen would go to the printing office he would see what was stricken out.

Mr. Craige understood that the accused had put in an answer to the charges.

The Speaker remarked that it had been filed.

Mr. Nichols said in this particular case an answer that been made and printed, and would be filed today by the member particularly implicated.

Mr. Bennett caused to be read a paper from Mr. Gilbert, who denies the truth of the charges preferred against him, and demands a trial. He asks that certain testimony exparts of Sweeney and Simonton certain testimony ex parte of Sweeney and Simonton be produced and printed, deeming it to contain matters material to his defense.

Mr. Bennett offered a resolution having the latter be published as evidence.

He (Orr), assumed that this was not testimony affecting the merits of the case. It was merely the surmises of Simonton. He had no objection to sending to the printing office and obtaining everything suppressed.

Mr. Bennett remarked that they have a right to a statement that would show that Sweeney swore to

Mr. Davis of Maryland said the committee are

Mr. Davis of Maryland said the committee are not aware of any suppression of evidence touching any facts concerning the person accused, or which could bear on the fairness of the proceedings. Simonton did give the names of witnesses by whom testimony was given, but Simonton was not compelled to give them as testimony.

Mr. McMullen said it was the duty of Congress to give the accused a fair trial. This was accorded to give the accused a fair trial. This was accorded to the meanest criminal. In his opinion the committee had performed their duty creditably to themselves and the nation, but he was for giving the accused everything he could in fairness ask, including the suppressed testimony, which is deemed by the acsuppressed testimony, which is deemed by the ac-cused essential to his defense.

Mr. Orr said that he had sent to the printing office for the original document. This was subsequently compared in some parts with the printed volume, and it appeared that these omissions were wolume, and it appeared that these omissions were made, among others, to the followidg effec: When Sweeney was examined as to Gilbert, he said: "I do not wish to launch on a sea of this kind, as I shall be liable to break down the testimony I have already given." In another part Sweeney says: "It seems to me that you already have evidence enough to convict him (Gilbert)." And, again, witness said to the committee, "You should not lead me so far off as to make what I have said impeachable."

Mr. Orr said that there was a change in every respect.

At the instance of Sweeney, who wished to present his testimony fairly and properly before the House, Mr. Stanton inquired whether the committee consented to the mode of trial.

Mr. Orr replied that it was for the House to determine whether they would give the matter the go-by, maine whether they would give the matter the go-by, but for himself he would not consent to give the accused members higher and greater privilegee than those which have been enjoyed by members hereto-

ST. Louis, Feb. 25. The Jefferson City correspondent of the Democrat learns from the passengers from Kansas, to-night, that a difficulty has occurred between Geary and Sherrod, growing out of the refusal of the former to appoint the latter sheriff, as desired. It had a fatal termination. Sherrod avowed the purpose of killing Geary. Meeting the Governor in the street, he spat in his face. Geary did not resent, but his nds got up an indignation meeting on Thursday, 19th. Sheriff Jones, Sherrod, and others atthe 19th. GREEN-HOUSES.—It is a common error of gar, deners and amateur growers of green-house plants deners and amateur growers of green-house plants at this season, to increase the temperature of their houses, until it frequently ranges at 85 deg. in the day time and 60 deg. at night. Others commit a more serious blunder by giving to the house a temperature as great at night as during the day. Both of these errors should be avoided, if good, healthy plants and full, perfect blossoms are desired for March and April. The temperature should not exceed 70 deg. at any time during the day, but should generally range at about 60 deg., and, during the night, at a temperature of 50 deg.

Frozen Plants.—Should your plants, by any accident, get frozen, set the pots at once into tubs of water and sprinkle the branches with soft rain water. Often the delicate, tender roots just inside the pots are injured by drying and freezing, so as to cause death; when, had they been protected by immersion in water, the half hardy or shrubby nature of the plant would have suffered little injury from the frost. This is especially so with Fuschias, Tea

Roses, Camelias, &c .

Green Fly on Plants.—At this season, plants in a green-house or warm rooms are much affected with the green fly; many remedies are in use, but the simplest and best is smoking with tobacco. Young men might often put in the time during a call upon young ladies by smoking for the benefit of the house plants, and at the same time give the young lady and exemplification of the state of things when maranjexemplification of the state of things when mar

In green-houses, a pan of live coals is placed upon the floor, fine tobacco is strewn over the coals, the the floor, fine tobacco is strewn over the coals, the house then closed tightly, and left from one to three hours, according as the fly is more or less abundant. After being thus smoked, it should be thoroughly syringed with warm water. A dull, cloudy day should always be selected for this purpose.

The Heliotrope is one of the plants injured by tobacco smoke, and, when the house is so fumigated, all Heliotropes should be taken out.

House plants can be smoked separately by placing sticks crossways, midway of an old barrel, thus

STRETCHES IN SHEEP.-INQUIRY-EDS. RURAL:

STRETCHES IN SHEEP.—INQUIRY—EDS. RURAL: Allow me through the Rural to inquire the cause of and a remedy (if there be any) for what is termed stretches in sheep. I have lost several with the disease. It seems to attack the best in the flock and as yet none have recovered.—E., Skaneateles, N. Y. REMARKS.—As a partial reply to the above we make the following extract from the transactions of the New York State Agricultural Society. It is produced by an obstruction of a malady which generally attacks vigorous sheep in high health. It is produced by an obstruction of the intestines, and is caused by one portion of the bowels becoming introduced into another part. The suffering is extreme, and is manifested by spasmodic contortions of the sheep, its lying down, stretching and rolling upon the ground. Death speedily follows, unless relief is promptly afforded. In connexion with the use of powerful cathartics, the most successful practice I have known is to raise the animal entirely from the ground by the hind legs, and hold it in that position ground by the hind legs, and hold it in that position a few seconds. Let this operation be repeated several times, with short intervals. I have seen sheep, which were suffering the keenest agonies, relieved immediately by this process. The disease is probably induced by the exclusive use of dry fodder, and may be averted by changing to vegetable food." If any of our correspondents or readers are possessed of experience in the treatment of this disase we would be pleased to hear from them.

RAISING COLTS.—The following answers were returned by Col. William R. Johnson, to questions propounded by John Marshall, Esq., of Fauquier epunty, Virginia.—American Farmer.

SENATE CHAMBER, Feb. 4, 1829. 1. Keep the colts in pretty good order, not too fat, until they are two years old, then break them "gently."

2. Keep them in lots, it does not matter as to size, taking care not to allow them to see other horses more than possible.

3 and 4. Grass lots are best, and short grass.

5. Dry food mostly—when young, cut oats.
6. Give corn in the winter; oats in the summer; not more at a time than they eat clean. When they are once fat, very light feeding is best.
7. It is not at all necessary to rub them until they are two years old.

8. Wean the celts at about six months old.
Should the above answers to your questions not be afficiently explicit, they will be with great pleasure Respectfully, WM. R. JOHNSON.

JOHN MARSHALL, Esq.

DAILY REVIEW OF THE MARKET, LOUISVILLE, February 26.

Money market very tight. Exchanges have a downward tendency, and we quote Eastern sight at 1/6% prem., and New Orleaus at 1 prem., at which, we understand, some of the banks are checking.

Pork market excited. We publish this morning the returns of the hog crop, made up by the Cincinnati Price Current. The sales in this market yesterday were 1,500 bbls mess pork in one lot, taken on speculation, at $20, and two lots of 500 bbls each at the same. Last evening there were more buyers, but no mere sellers at this figure. In bulk meats a sale of 5,000 shoulders at 7%c loose. In bacon sales of 16 casks old ribbed sides, back-bone out, at 10%c packed, 5 casks old ribbed sides at 10%c packed, and 5 csks old shoulders at 8c packed. In lard a sale of 50 bbls common country at 12c. The last sales of prime keg were at 13%c, but holders are generally asking an advance. There was considerable meat in from the country, probably 20,000 lbs, and the current rates were 8%c for shoulders, 10%c for hams, and 10%c for clear sides, and for lard 11%c for bb and 12%@12%c for prime keg.

The Cincinnati Price-Current of this week gives the fol lowing comparative prices this season and last:

Mess pork, bbl.	$19 50
Bulk sides,	b.	9½
Bulk shoulders.	8
Bucon sides.	10
Bacon shoulders.	9
Bbl lard.	13½
Keg lard.	13½ (@13%

In the grocery market the largest sale was 32 hhds of lov fair and fair sugar at 10% and 11%c, 15 hhds au 11%c, 22 hhds at 11%@11%c, and about 12 hhds in small lots at 11% @11%c. In molasses only small sales at 70c for bbls and 71 @72c for hf bbls. St. Louis sugar-house we quote at 78@ 85c for bbls and kegs. In coffee sales of 80 bags Rio at 11c. Sales of 5 tees rice at 5%c.

Flour very dull and nominal at $5 40. Wheat $1 10@

Sales of about 75 bales of fair hay from the at $20 % ton.

No raw whisky offering. Sales of rectified at 22½c. Sales of 42 hhds tobacco—6 at $7 15@$7 60, 7 at $8 25@ $9, 6 at $9 10@$9 95, 7 at $10 05@$10 90, 5 at $11 15@ $11 80, 5 at $12@$12 90, 3 at $13 05@$13 65, and 3 at $14 45, $15 15, and $15 95.

In bagging a sale of 250 pcs at 141/c. A sale of 20 bales cotton at 13c and 16 bales at 1214c. Sales of 3,000 lbs washed wool from store at 380 Sales of clover seed at $7 75 and timothy at $3 75.

To New Orleans 35e # hundred, 80c # bbl for pork, 90c # tee for lard, $1 # bbl for whicky; sheep 65@75c, mules $6@$7, and horses and cattle $7@$8 7 head. To Pitts. burg and Wheeling 20c & hundred for heavy and 30c for ight freights.

NEW YORK, February 25, P. M. Cotton market is buoyant, and holders realised a further advance of % of a penny & th—sales of 4,000 bales at 14%c for middling Orleans, 15%c for middling uplands. steady-sales of 1,550 bbls. Wheat is firm-sales of 13,500 bush. Corn declining-sales of 31,000 bush. Pork buoyant and market unsettled, and all qualities considerably advanced—sales of 2,000 bbls mess pork at $22 50@$23 50. Mess beef buoyant at $15 50. Lard buoyant. Sugar and coffee firm. Linseed oil firm at 87c and lard oil at $1 10@$1 15.
